BOURBON FARMING CONDITIONS

With the closing of the local tobacco markets the farmers are now taking a rest in anticipation of the annual Christmas festivities, which, on the farm, still have a great significance. They are contenting themselves with feeding of stock and a little actual work as really necessary about the farm.

The wheat and rye crops are reported as being in first class condition. The light snows that fell last week had served to protect them from the severe cold. Marketing of country produce is occupying the attention of the farmers, wives, sisters and aunts. There is a large supply and the demand good. Last Saturday dealers paid forty to forty-five cents per pound for dressed turkeys, 55 to 60 cents per dozen for eggs, and 30 to 35 cents per pound for dressed chickens. Cream declined two cents per pound and is now selling at 68 cents. There has been some difficulty in getting a sufficient supply of butter and milk for the needs of restaurants and hotels, though, all things considered, these places have been very fortunate.

YEAR BOOK OF WAR MOTHERS BEING PREPARED

The first year book of the Kentucky War Mothers is now being prepared, and will be an historical document unsurpassed in value as an account of the part taken by Kentuckians in the war. It will contain a list of all men and women of the State in the service, the capacity in which they served, and their achievements. Photographs of Major General J. Franklin Bell, now dead, General George B. Duncan, Admiral Hugh Rodman, Admiral Joseph Strauss, General Frank Winn and other Kentuckians who took a prominent part in the struggle, will be included.

Mrs. Reuben Hutchcraft, of Paris, first Kentucky War Mother, is chairman of the year book committee, and is being enthusiastically supported by all members. Mrs. Foster, now head of the organization in this State, brings valuable experience to the work, having been historian of the Colonial Dames in the State of Washington, besides doing much similar work for the D. A. R.

REINSTATE NOW!

Under a special ruling issued recently by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C., all former soldiers, sailors and marines whose Government insurance has lapsed or been canceled may have until December 31, 1919, within which to reinstate their insurance, by paying only two months' premiums on the amount of insurance they wish to reinstate.

The only other condition imposed is that the insured shall now be in as good health as he was when discharged from the service, or as he was when the grace period of his insurance expired (whichever is the later date), and shall so state in his application.

Immediate advantage of this liberal provision should be taken by those interested. In the matter of securing life insurance protection, he who acts quickly acts wisely. No time as good as now.

Make the check or money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States and mail it, with your application for reinstatement, to Premium Receipt Section, Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C.

Ten staple crops produced in Kentucky in 1919 are valued at more than $300,000,000 according to figures obtained from the Department of Agriculture.

A NICE CONCESSION.

At the recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the Executive Board of the Odd Fellows Home at Lexington, Mayor E. B. January, a member of the Board, presented a check from the Tattersall's Tobacco Warehouse Co., of Lexington, for $129,54.

A crop of tobacco raised by the boys of the Home, on a plot of five acres near the Home, when sold on the Lexington market for a total of $4,116.75. The warehouse people deducted their commission but upon representation made by Mayor January to the effect that the Home needed the whole amount, promptly refunded it, in the shape of their rebate check for the amount. They added in a statement to the Directors that if they sold the tobacco produced on the farm in the future they would make no charge for warehouse or selling fees.

GEORGETOWN STORE FIRE LAID TO BOYS' DELAY.

Fire, originating in the basement of the new Prillman 5 and 10 cent store in Georgetown Monday night while the store was crowded with shoppers caused a total loss of the merchandise and gutted the millinery shop of Mrs. Elizabeth Hines and the dental office of Dr. J. R. Owens, both on the second floor.

Delay of a boy, who became excited when Manager Russell, discovering incendiary burning in a barrel, sent him after a bucket of water, gave the flames opportunity to spread.

The store was opened two weeks ago. Loss is placed at $5,000.

DE SOTA.

The average American has come to regard the early Spanish explorers as a group of cruel and worthless conquerors of Indians, but one of this early band stands out as the highest type of chivalry that his country has produced. The career of De Soto and Isabella are bright spots in the otherwise dark pages of early Spanish exploration in the New World. De Soto, born of a noble but impoverished family, sought his fortune in the New World. He was the handsomest and kindest of Spanish nobles and denounced the cruelty to the Incas—although he took a share of their spoils. Returning to Spain he married his boyhood sweetheart, Isabella, and this new Ferdinand and Isabella became the most popular couple of Spain. In two years' time De Soto, leading the noblest train of adventures ever assembled, set forth for new adventures in America. But he was doomed to disappointment, and after terrible sufferings, died and was buried in the waters of the Mississippi. Isabella, his wife, mourned herself to death upon hearing of the fate of her husband.

Flying machines and scandals are much more easily started than stopped.

THE ANI OF JAPAN

The corners of the world are filled with the remnants of ancient peoples who have been driven by superior races to the very ends of the earth. The Welsh, the Koreans, the American Indians, have all been driven back at one time or another from their original homes. But none of these out of the way corners of the world contain a more curious race than the Ani, the descendants of the original inhabitants of Japan. These people, now only a few thousand in number, bear the same relation to the Japanese that the American Indians bear to Americans. They were the original inhabitants of the country who have been driven northward from time immemorial by the stronger race. To-day the Iu habit the upper part of the Island of Yesso—the northernmost of the four main islands of the Japanese Empire. They are the hairiest people of the earth and among the latest advanced.

A marriage license was issued Wednesday from the office of County Clerk Pearce Paton to Currency Ritchie, 19, of Paris, and Miss Emma E. Fuller, 17, of Austerlitz.

Licenses authorizing them to enter the matrimonial state were issued to the following parties, Tuesday, from the office of County Clerk Pearce Paton: Stanley McLeod, farmer, Paris, and Miss Clay Dewart, Winchester; Herman H. Ray and Miss Irene Gardner, both of Lexington; Wadell Beeding, Millersburg, and Miss Pauline Whitley, of Lexington.

In his private office in the court house Wednesday, Judge Geo. Batterton performed the ceremony uniting in marriage the following couples: Henry Rowe, 25, and Miss Mary Lee Howard, 18, both of the county; Wm. Smith, 28, and Mrs. Virginia Bailey, 21, both of Lexington; Jonas Soard, 18, and Miss Lula Harpe, both of near Paris.

The following announcement cards have been issued: "Mr. and Mrs. Wesley O'Banion, of Georgetown, announce the marriage of their daughter, Stella Goebel to Sylvester E. Brisby, and Claudia Elizabeth to Chester Arthur Tharpe, Wednesday afternoon, December 24, in Lexington, Ky." The brides are nieces of Mrs. Lon Graves, of Paris.

WOODALL—MCCRACKEN.

Miss Margaret Woodall and Mr. Davis McCracken, both of Carlisle, secured license and were married here Tuesday. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Woodall, of near Carlisle, and for several months has been cashier in the Newman bakery, in Carlisle. The groom is a son of W. C. McCracken, formerly of Carlisle. They will reside at the groom's home, near Miranda, in Nicholas county.

RYAN—BISHOP.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ryan, of Millersburg, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Ida Mae Ryan, to Mr. Earl Tuttle Bishop, of Carlisle. The marriage will be solemnized in the early part of the coming year. The bride-elect is a very charming and accomplished musician, who is well-known here, where she has frequently visited. Mr. Bishop is a son of Mr. William Bishop, and is one of Carlisle's most popular young business men.

WHITLEY—BEEDING.

The marriage of Miss Pauline Whitley, of Lexington, to Mr. Wadell Beeding, of Millersburg, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock at the home of Mrs. Harry Renick, in Lexington. The ceremony was performed by Dr. C. C. Fisher, president of Millersburg College.

The bride has been teacher of expression at Sayre College, in Lexington, this season, and was formerly on the faculty of the Millersburg College at the same time with Mrs. Barnett, the principal of Sayre College. The groom is a well-known young business man of Millersburg, and a son of Mr. Thos. E. Beeding, of that city, formerly Sheriff of Bourbon county.

RELIGIOUS.

Rev. Dr. Clayton, returned missionary and assistant to Right Rev. Lewis W. Burton, Bishop of the Lexington Diocese, conducted the Christmas services at 10:45 at St. Peter's Episcopal church, yesterday morning.

Rev. C. A. VanWinkle has resigned the pastorate of the Christian church, at Millersburg. He will move to Berea, and engage in evangelistic work. He is a pulpit orator of pleasing personality and great ability and will be power for good in any community where he may work.

Last Sunday was observed in the churches and Sunday schools of the Northern Presbyterian church as "Sunday School Day." The observance was a part of the church-wide campaign known as the New Era Movement. An offering was taken in all the Sunday schools for extension of the church work in heathen lands.

The National War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Association is planning a nationwide campaign for raising a fund of $2,000,000 to carry out the recently announced educational plans. The plan is exclusively for soldiers, sailors and marines, and is the outgrowth of the "Khaki College" conducted by the association during the war.

Every Sunday School of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is expected to observe next Sunday as Annual Missionary day. The object of the day is three-fold: To secure a definite missionary pledge from every school; to secure increased pledges from those already pledged, and to emphasize the Centenary movement in every school in the Southern Methodist.

A good many women regard a marriage certificate as a meal ticket for life.

NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The first of the year is almost here, a time when everyone desires, at least, to settle all old accounts, and start the New Year with a clean slate. The cost of white paper has increased to such an extent that THE NEWS will be compelled to discontinue all subscriptions in arrears. If any of our readers have fallen back, and desire to continue taking THE NEWS, they should call and pay up their subscriptions at once. We expect to give you a better newspaper in 1920 than we have given you in 1919. If you want to keep posted on what is going on in this section, you should be a regular subscriber to THE BOURBON NEWS.

Quite recently THE NEWS submitted a proposition to the Chatfield & Woods Company, of Cincinnati, one of the largest paper houses in the country, for a supply of newsprint paper at what we thought a first-class price. In reply we received the following, which we do not think is violating any business confidence in publishing for the consideration of our readers:

"Cincinnati, O., Dec. 22.

"Dear Sir:—We regret very much that we are not in a position to accept your order for newsprint paper at eight cents per pound, f. o. b. Cincinnati, owing to the fact that we have not a sheet of this size and weight in stock. We will probably receive a shipment of this size and weight sometime next month and would be glad to fill your order upon arrival of same, at the price prevailing at that time. We are sorry that the present conditions will not permit us to name you a definite price on newsprint paper to-day..."

From the tone of this letter, which but reflects the situation all over the country, our readers can see what the newspaper men are up against, and may realize what a hard row they are hoeing at present. There is no relief in sight, and all the publishers can do is to sit still in the boat and not try to tip it over. Meanwhile all those who are religiously inclined are hoping and praying for relief from an intolerable situation.

AND IT REALLY HAPPENED

In the course of a day's round, and even sometimes at night, while prowling around in search of a live news item, THE NEWS man hears and sees some funny things. Some of them won't bear repeating, but others are so good that they ought not to be kept in the dark. One of these good ones was recently overheard at The Alamo.

In fact, it was Saturday night, while Mabel Normand was cavorting around on the screen in her inimitable screen play, "The Jinx." In the row behind "us" sat two women, who had apparently spent considerable time shopping. Both had an assortment of bundles in their hands. One of the women, beffurred and bejeweled, had a large round package in her hand. They were discussing their shopping experiences.

"What did you buy, dearie?" asked the smaller woman of her companion with the large round bundle. "Why, I bought a real nice cut glass punchbowl," replied the holder of the large round bundle, which she guarded jealously and zealously. "For Gawd's sake," exclaimed the smaller woman, "What in the name of all that's holy are you going to put in it—geraniums or goldfish?" We didn't hear the reply, which was whispered to the anxious one. Just think of it! A punchbowl at this stage of prohibition!

When searched he had in his possession a revolver of a cheap make and pattern. The boy was released from custody when his father furnished bond for his appearance at trial. The boy refused to implicate any one, but the police think he had accomplices.

CHRISTMAS MARKS ANOTHER MILESTONE IN YEARS

Yesterday marked the quiet Christmas we used to know years ago. Most of the business houses were closed for the day, and the employees were given a deserved rest after their strenuous days and nights. Special services were held in the churches, while family reunions marked the day in numerous homes.

The "shut-ins" in the various institutions enjoyed a good Christmas dinner, while the same privilege was vouchsafed to nearly everyone outside. The city and county buildings, the banks and the Government building were closed. The kiddies made the day a glad one inspecting what Santa Claus brought them, and the older ones wished themselves back to that time of their lives. All in all it was a very good Christmas.

The coming of the day announced how quickly Christmas rolls around to those who are getting along in years, and no longer get pleasure from the season that they did before they knew the time would come when Santa Claus would pass them by. To them and to us the pleasure is mainly in retrospect and in recalling the happy time of long ago, when living parents played Santa Claus for our pleasure and we were delighted with gifts that the children of this generation would look upon with disdain.

And now that we have all had our "Merry Christmas," THE NEWS wishes all its readers, parsons and friends a prosperous and A HAPPY NEW YEAR. We can all take an inventory of our accomplishments and failures, and try to make 1921 a better year for ourselves.

A Happy New Year to one and all!

BUYING BOOTLEGGER LIQUOR IS RISKY BUSINESS.

Wood alcohol is causing many deaths in America. Every day newspapers record tragedies of this character, and all the victims are by no means the riff-raff of society.

To the ignorant there is no difference between wood alcohol and grain alcohol, yet one is a deadly poison, certain to produce blindness or death, while the other is the basis of genuine whisky. Opinions differ as to its deleterious effects. Prohibition officers have called it likewise a poison, but even in their wildest flights of oratory they have not ventured to say that its effects are so swiftly lethal as those produced by wood alcohol.

Any man, or woman either, who buys liquor from an amateur bootlegger is running the risk of illness or death. The bootlegger himself may not know what he is selling, or he may palm off any concoction for the profit there is in it. The most astonishing mixtures have been made and sold to persons in quest of something with a "kick" in it, and the wonder is that fatalities have not been more numerous.

If not already here, the time is coming when the bootlegger and the blind tiger operator should adopt a skull and crossbones as the symbol of their profession.

SMOKING CHIMNEY CAUSES FIRE ALARM.

A burning chimney on the roof of a house on Seventh street caused an alarm to be turned in from Box 18 yesterday morning. The fire department responded, but found nothing to do, as the flames had been extinguished before their arrival. No damage, no loss.

An alarm from Box 34 Wednesday night called the department to the Tuck tobacco redrying house on South Main street, where hot ashes piled against a board partition had set fire to it. The blaze was extinguished without property loss.

INFURIATED WOMAN ATTACKS
ISLAND FERRY OFFICIALS

NEW YORK, December 25.—Led by a woman who declared her husband had been deported to Russia Sunday on the "Soviet Ark" Monday attacked the entrance to the Ellis Island ferry in an attempt to reach fellow radicals still awaiting deportation. A riot call was turned in before the police could restore order.

The mob formed around the gate-keeper's cage several minutes before the attack was launched. Then the woman, proclaiming herself an anarchist, stepped forward, and drove both fists through the glass window. As pieces of glass crashed to the pavement the crowd began chanting the "Internationale."

"Down with this dirty, rotten Government," screamed the woman. "They have taken my husband and are taking the husbands, brothers and fathers of us all."

Unable to quiet the mob, Asa Mitchell, superintendent of the barge office, located at the tip of Manhattan, turned in a call for police reserves.

The mob turned upon the first policeman to answer the call and beat him, but when more reserves and a detail of coast guards, with fixed bayonets, arrived, the crowd suddenly became docile. Members of it explained they had come to inquire about relatives who had sailed on the Buford. A Russian woman, who gave the name of Clara Brooks, was arrested as the ringleader.

Twenty-two anarchists remained at Ellis Island Monday, awaiting deportation. They will be sent to Russia with others from Detroit and Chicago whom the Department of Labor was unable to have transported to New York in time to sail aboard the Buford. Arrangements for the departure of the next "Soviet Ark" have not been completed, according to Byron H. Uhl, acting commissioner at the island.

The Department of Justice has 60,000 anarchists and communists listed and an enormous number of these, officials say, will be deported.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my trouble so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

SWIFT & CO'S WEEKLY PRODUCED MARKET REVIEWED

Receipts of cream have not been heavy, but there has been a pronounced tendency toward lower prices on butter, due to light demand. For this reason there has been some decline in butterfat prices throughout the country.

There is still a large reserve stock of eggs in storage. Receipts of fresh eggs are very light, but high prices have curtailed consumption, and there is little demand except for the very finest quality. As it is late in the selling season for storage eggs, and as we are approaching the producing season on fresh eggs, the market has shown easier tendency during the week on both fresh and storage eggs.

Poultry receipts have been lighter, but there has been very little change in the price situation on the selling market. More poultry is being received in the selling centers than is being consumed promptly, and the surplus has been sent to the freezer.

Turkeys appear to be well cleaned up, and sold at record prices. The trade expects the balance of the remaining crop will be sold before January 1st.

JUST SO! WHY NOT?

A movement was started in Congress Saturday looking to reduction in amount of newsprint paper used by Government departments. Chairman Steenson, House Postoffice Committee, introduced a resolution calling on departments to report immediately the amount of print paper used by them, and whether a 10 per cent. reduction could be made.

The railways of the United States are more than one-third, nearly one-half, of all the railways of the world. They carry a yearly traffic so much greater than that of any other country that there is really no basis for comparison. Indeed, the traffic of all countries may be combined, and still it does not approach the commerce of America borne upon American railways.

—United States Senator Cummins.

Ask Any Doughboy Who Was "Over There" and he will tell you that American railroads are the best in the world.

He saw the foreign roads—in England and France, the best in Europe—and in other Continental countries—and he knows.

The part railroads have played in the development of the United States is beyond measure.

American railroads have achieved high standards of public service by far-sighted and courageous investment of capital, and by the constant striving of managers and men for rewards for work well done.

We have the best railroads in the world—we must continue to have the best.

But they must grow.

To the $20,000,000,000 now invested in our railroads, there will have to be added in the next few years, to keep pace with the nation's business, billions more for additional tracks, stations and terminals, cars and engines, electric power houses and trains, automatic signals, safety devices, the elimination of grade crossings—and for reconstruction and engineering economies that will reduce the cost of transportation.

To attract to the railroads in the future the investment funds of many thrifty citizens, the directing genius of the most capable builders and managers, and the skill and loyalty of the best workmen—in competition with other industries bidding for capital, managers and men—the railroad industry must hold out fair rewards to capital, to managers and to the men.

American railroads will continue to set world standards and adequately serve the Nation's needs if they continue to be built and operated on the American principle of rewards for work well done.

MINE WORKERS HEAD ARRESTED AND RELEASED.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Dec. 25.—Alexander Howat, president of the Kansas district of the United Mine Workers, was released from jail yesterday and allowed to return to Kansas, when he agreed to call off the strike of miners in his district.

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 25.—Alexander Howat, President of the Kansas District (No. 14) of the United Mine Workers of America, Monday night is in jail here, awaiting hearing on a charge of contempt of court for alleged violation of the Federal Court injunction against furtherance of the strike of coal miners. Hearing has been set for next Monday at 2 p.m.

Howat appeared in Federal Court this morning at the order of United States District Judge A. B. Anderson. He was under bond of $10,000 provided in the form of a check on a Kansas City bank. Judge Anderson disapproved of this form of bond and immediately after the afternoon session of court began at 2 o'clock remanded the miners' official to jail until he reached a decision as to the amount and kind of bond which will be acceptable.

Judge Anderson Monday morning denounced Howat for his attitude in connection with the Court's injunction against the strike and declared:

"Either I have to vindicate the law or abdicate in favor of Mr. Howat."

The hearing Monday morning began with a response by Henry Warrum, chief counsel for the United Mineworkers of America, in which the position was taken that Howat in keeping in force a local strike of 1,000 miners in the Kansas district, which was called last July, did not violate the injunction against furtherance of the general strike, but complied with instructions of the miners' General Committee in that operation of mines of Kansas was resumed on the same basis as obtained on October 31, the date the general strike became effective.

Dan W. Simms, Special Assistant District Attorney, representing the government, followed with an outline of the evidence against Howat. He declared the Kansas miners' official had issued several statements or given newspaper interviews in violation of the injunction, and asserted that the local strike was merged with the general strike on October 31, and thereafter was affected by any action which had to do with the general strike.

In reviewing the miners' case Judge Anderson declared that the Lever act, under which the action was brought, was still in force and pointed to the United States Supreme Court decision in the war-time prohibition law as a parallel case, upholding the theory that the war measures still are effective. He said he had defined the law on November 8 and that the miners' officials had knowledge of that definition.

"This defendant," he declared, "according to the statements in the verified bill of information, which was filed here on December 3, violated this order (the court's injunction) and the Lever law every hour since that time. * * * Now, the question is—what shall I do?"

"It is perfectly plain that this man has not in good faith attempted to comply with the order of this court. It is quite apparent that there is ample ground for the grand jury to bring a bill against him for a felony."

"What should I do under the circumstances? Why, hold him, of course. That is what I have to do. Now I have continued this case to a time when he could get counsel, as he wants, and the government can get its witnesses here to prove as to whether he has been contumacious and in the meantime I am going to hold this man right here under the jurisdiction of this court."

During the outline of the government's case by Mr. Simms it was declared that during thirty-three months before December 31, 1918, there were 364 strikes in the Kansas field under the leadership of Howat. It was stated that Howat probably did not call all of the strikes, but he was responsible for the organization which made them possible and that he was feared by both operators and business men in the Kansas district as wielding a power too great for them to combat.

Judge Anderson asserted that he considered the situation in the Kansas fields as intolerable and said that Howat would have to change his attitude toward the law and the Court if he expected to obtain his liberty. He declared that Howat had breathed defiance right here in Indianapolis, and that he was going to show him that there is a government in this country.

In reviewing the miners' case Judge Anderson declared that the Lever act, under which the action was brought, was still in force and pointed to the United States Supreme Court decision in the war-time prohibition law as a parallel case, upholding the theory that the war measures still are effective. He said he had defined the law on November 8 and that the miners' officials had knowledge of that definition.

"This defendant," he declared, "according to the statements in the verified bill of information, which was filed here on December 3, violated this order (the court's injunction) and the Lever law every hour since that time. * * * Now, the question is—what shall I do?"

"It is perfectly plain that this man has not in good faith attempted to comply with the order of this court. It is quite apparent that there is ample ground for the grand jury to bring a bill against him for a felony."

"What should I do under the circumstances? Why, hold him, of course. That is what I have to do. Now I have continued this case to a time when he could get counsel, as he wants, and the government can get its witnesses here to prove as to whether he has been contumacious and in the meantime I am going to hold this man right here under the jurisdiction of this court."

During the outline of the government's case by Mr. Simms it was declared that during thirty-three months before December 31, 1918, there were 364 strikes in the Kansas field under the leadership of Howat. It was stated that Howat probably did not call all of the strikes, but he was responsible for the organization which made them possible and that he was feared by both operators and business men in the Kansas district as wielding a power too great for them to combat.

Judge Anderson asserted that he considered the situation in the Kansas fields as intolerable and said that Howat would have to change his attitude toward the law and the Court if he expected to obtain his liberty. He declared that Howat had breathed defiance right here in Indianapolis, and that he was going to show him that there is a government in this country.
